by AJB30 on SEPTEMBER 22, 2010

Super cute, trendy, clothing for little girls. Hard to find for sure, but Spoiled Little Mama specializes in bringing just that to your little girls wardrobe. They carry anything from adorable tanks, lace leggings, and swimsuits to custom made pageant dresses and fabulous couture creations. Spoiled Little Mama blends all the latest colors, fabrics and textures season after season and have earned themselves quite a reputation in the clothing boutique lines, and have been spotlighted in magazines such as KidsWorld, OK Magazine and Baby Couture. Their new Fall line is out right now- with deep reds and charcoal greys- patches and ruffles, sequins and stripes, your little girl will definitely stand out a bit in the crowd. And what little girl doesn't like to get a little attention?

We received a few items from their Fall line for our review. I absolutely love at how comfortable they are. It doesn't matter how cute a dress is, if it isn't comfortable, my kids aren't going to wear it! The dresses from Spoiled Little Mama are not only adorable and unique, but have a bit of glam and charm about them. My daughters favorite is the red and black sequin dress. A red shirt dress with a sequin studded hood and pocket accent. Of course she would love the bling factor! I was so scared to wash it- thinking all the sequins would just fall off, but I am glad to report- not a single sequin was lost! Perfect for pictures or just a trip to the mall! I love the grey and red dress with a perfume patch on it. Very feminine and absolutely adorable. Spoiled Little Mama even has some really gorgeous couture dresses that are stunning you will love. A bit pricey, but if you got- it's so worth it!! If you are looking for something different and adorable- clothing to make them stand out in the crowd- OH and they have some really gorgeous diaper bags for moms!
